THE conditions of warfare have been so radically changed by smokeless powder and magazine rifles, effective at a ile and a half, that European governents are seeking for devices that will and France are experimenting with shields for this purpose. A committee of the French war office have reported in favor of a buckler of aluminum and copper. They think that a shield could be made out of this combination light enough to be carried without serious difficulty, and strong enough to stop even the moderate rifle bullet, except at very glose quarters.

THE 'T' RAIL WINS

ADOPTED BY A VOTE OF 11 TO 4.

AFTER A VERY LIVELY DEBATE.

A Remonstrance Against the Proposed Street Demonstration Attending the Lithuanian Church Corner.

The expectation that there would be an exciting council meeting last night on so count of the "T" rail question, brought ou a full attendance of councilmen and a large gathering of citizens.

J. R. Coyle, Esq., was present with sev oral representatives of the electric railway company to ask that the "T" rail be substituted for the flat rail. Mr. Coyle addressed the members and stated that one of day Sunday on the plane, clearing away a the prime objects of the electric railway company is to construct the road so that i will be absolutely safe for its patrons and for that reason it asked permission to use the 'T' rail in place of the flat rail. Mr Coyle pointed out the disastrous effects of a car leaving the flat rail on a grade and tated that the wheels of the cars for the "T" rail are so made as to hold the car upon the track. Mr. Coyle also stated that three or tour livery men had suggested after viewing the section of the road Isid on Main street yesterday, for exhibiting purposes, that the guage of the railway be made 4 feet 84 instead of 5 feet 24 inches.

Councilman Holman made a statement regarding the trip he and other members of the street committee made to Bethlehem, Allentown, Scranton and Witkes Barre to Mr. Scheiffs moved that the request of see how the "T" rall worked in the places the electric rallway company concerning and he said that he was satisfied the "T" rail was the best for use.

A Brilliant Wedding at Wm. Penn Yesterday.

The Methodist Episcopal church at Wm. Penn yesterday was a perfect paradies. Rare plants and flowers were profusely cattered about the interior of the edifice, giving it a lovely appearance. The ocearlon of the tropical decorations was the nurrings of Miss Millie Umstead Lowis, daughter of William H. Lewis, superinendent of the Wm. Penn colliery, to Mr. Harry Hunter, an estimable and prosperous young business man of Ashland. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. M. Vivian, of Spring City, assisted by Rev. Potts, of Wm. Penn. The Schoppe orchostra occupied a position back of the pulpit, and played the wedding march as the bride entered the church at 12 m., resting upon the arm of her father, and followed by the bridermaids and a boyr of pretty little flower girls. The orchestra played half-subdied strains while the personery was in progress. The bridgemaids were Mas Belle Hunter, sister of the groom, Miss Mand Lawis, sister of the bride, Miss Irona Micses, of Potaville, and Miss Mizze, of Carlisle. The maid of honor was Miss Carrie Lewis, sister of the bride. The groomsman was Mr. Augustus Reaton, of Philadelphia, Mesers, Georga R. Patterson and R. C.
